Maximize Instruction and Engagement During Small Group Instruction

This class will demonstrate how to systematically use ENVoY nonverbal management skills during guided small group instruction, including reading and math. This course will teach you the skills needed to engage the small group while fostering independent learning with the rest of the class. You will learn to preserve the most powerful leverage point that teachers and paras have, educator-student relationships.

Topics of study:

- Successful transitions to increase independent learning
- Thoughtful instruction to expand long-term memory and comprehension
- Crucial skills to build engagement, understanding, and independence
- Enhanced learning environment

Educators love Small Group ENVoY because:

- Techniques are practical and easy to implement
- Skills help educators maximize critical limited instructional time with students

Students respond to Small Group ENVoY because:

- They are more productive, self directed, and responsible
- They are happier and removed from learning less often
